

Contents

Acknowledgments	viii
Abbreviations	ix
Editors' Note	x
Introduction	1
Gary P. Zola

---

Part I: "We're Building Judaism": WRJ and Religion 17

"The Synagog shall hear the Call of the Sister" Carrie Simon and the Founding of NFTS Pamela S. Nadell	19
---	----

"To Quicken the Religious Consciousness of Israel" The NFTS National Committee on Religion, 1913–1933 Jonathan D. Sarna	49
--	----

Mothers and Sons, Sisters and Brothers: Women of Reform Judaism and Hebrew Union College– Jewish Institute of Religion David Ellenson and Jane F. Karlin	72
--	----

The House [of Living Judaism] that Jane Evans and NFTS Built, 1951 Rebecca Kobrin	86
--	----

By Women, About Women, For Women? A New Torah Commentary for a New Millennium Jason Kalman and Andrea L. Weiss	104
---	-----

---

Part II: "Bright Ideas": WRJ and Material Culture 133

Cooking Reform Judaism Deborah Dash Moore and Noa Gutterman	134
---	-----

Constructing Identity: Sisterhood Gift Shops and the NFTS Campaign for Home Observance Joellyn Wallen Zollman	159
<hr/>
Part III: Y.E.S. (Youth, Education, and Special Projects)	183
“Get the Uniongram Habit” NFTS’s Imaginative Fundraising Campaign, 1913 Carole B. Balin	184
Dreaming Dreams and Seeing Visions: NFTS and the Early History of the National Federation of Temple Youth Jonathan Krasner	206
“No Child’s Play” Educating NFTS Women Jewishly Shuly Rubin Schwartz	248
“Peace Is Truly Our Mission” NFTS and the Peace Movement Melissa R. Klapper	270
“A Lamp Unto My Feet and a Light Unto My Path” NFTS and the Jewish Blind, 1927–1952 Dana Herman	289
<hr/>
Part IV: “Tomorrow’s World”: Sisterhood Envisions Change	313
From Sabbath to Shabbat: The Changing Language of Reform Sisterhood Leaders, 1913–2012 Sarah Bunin Benor	314
Constructing Reform Gender Role Expectations: Foreshadowing Change Sylvia Barack Fishman	338
Contributors	364
Index	368